WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A UNION LABEL

The name of the Allied Printing Trades Council which issued the label. The name of the council must be clearly legible to be authentic.

The Allied Label is a registered trademark of the International Association of Allied Printing Trades Councils and may only be used by companies who have a collective bargaining agreement with an Allied affiliate and who are licensed and authorized to use the Allied Label.

The shop number. Each Allied Council will issue a number to each authorized printing company. Only the shop whose number appears to the right hand side of the Allied Label is authorized to use this number.

If any of these elements of the Allied Label is missing, distorted or illegible on a printed piece, there is a strong likelihood that the label is not authorized. Please notify the Northeast Ohio Allied Printing Trades Council at 216-741-5722 of any use of the Allied Label which you suspect may not be legitimate. Please provide a sample of the original printed piece from which we can conduct our investigation.
